

Band: DEMONOLATOR
Country: Canada
Title: Occult Incantations of Evil
Label: HSP Productions
Year: 2012
Style: Death Metal

Review:

As listed on Metal Archives this band is active since 1992 but have no releases except for this debut album (out 2 decades after the band's formation), pretty strange to say the least. the album is released in digipack format, but the booklet is like printed backwards (like looking at it in the mirror), I don't know if this was on purpose, but it's damn stupid; why publishing the lyrics if you can't read them? Passing over that, music-wise the album is made of only 4 tracks but their total playing time is 35 minutes. Mostly slow paced Death Metal with occasional fast passages, Demonolator's music takes you back to the beginning of the '90's; it's raw, low-tuned, unpolished and sounds like recorded in one take. The vocals are the best part of this album, through their expressiveness they manage to create a decaying, putrefying atmosphere specific only to a few bands of the '90's. If you're into '90's demo tapes this might make your day; although I'm a fan of Finnish Death Metal and this band is somehow following a similar path, I managed to dig and really enjoy it after the second spin so you might want to be patient with them too, it might pay off in the end.

Reviewed by Adrian
Rating: 7.5/10

Contact:
www.hsp-productions.com

http://pestwebzine.com/index/april_2014/0-857